

everything is a decision process and everything is a diagram

playful systems / score:

- 1) Get a big sheet of paper, pens, scissors, colorful papers
- 2) Sit around the big paper - you will be improvising a diagram/way of thinking together
- 3) The first person creates a starting point - a word, a symbol...
- 4) One by one, add your contributions - how can you develop what the other person added? Can you create surprising connections?
- 5) Freestyle diagram making for a while. do not aim to create a closed system, focus on the activity of connecting points, making graphic marks, writing associations etc. itself
- 6) When you feel like it is finished, reflect together on the experience
