

Tier 6 - Content development strategies (How do you work with it?)

Share your individual methods for content development with the members of your collective.

How do you initiate your creative process?

Do you start by:

Asking a question?

Telling a story?

Creating an image?

Exploring concepts?

Developing performative actions?

Building a technology?

Manipulating materials?

Inhabiting architecture?

Or perhaps by activating:

Memory or history?

Lived experiences?

Specific spaces or geographies?

A particular body of knowledge?

A place, an institution, or an archive?

Refer to strategies you've employed in your own practice or those you've found interesting in the work of other artists.

(Please note: A separate Tier 10 will specifically address movement generation later on.)

The collection of these practices is your starter. Engage with these shared strategies: embody them, practice them, try them out, experiment, and experience them.

Collective Contribution:

Together, articulate a score consisting of up to three content development strategies that resonate with the entire collective.

For this score:

- Record separate, voice messages (one for each method/step), maximum 3 min each
- Each message should explain that specific step clearly enough for someone else to embody, engage with, or enact it.
- Sound files must be in MP3 format
- Upload these MP3 files to the iCoDaCo app with appropriate tags.

Individual Contribution:

Each artist should also submit an individual contribution that they deem relevant to this tier. Upload your individual contribution to the iCoDaCo app. This contribution can be in any medium of the artist's choice.
